Zombieland 2 cast

Luckily, he took me under his wing and mentored me in. Clockwise index finger to grab strand and pull it back through the thumb loop. Add more stitches now until you have 25 total on your right needle. But how do you count stitches? Use your index finger to tap or push each loop of the thread to help keep track. Each loop on the needle is a stitch, so you can count them like rods on the ladder. Are you struggling with this method? I know it's a lot to keep track of, especially if you're new to fiber craft. If you're disappointed with the cast on the long tail, skip the next step for a simple method you can use for the first two projects, then come back on the long tail cast for the last two projects in orbit. If you just can't seem to get the long tail cast on after several attempts, don't beat yourself — it's hard! Especially the very first thing as you do with knitting needles. You can use the first two projects to have a simple cast-cast on the reverse loop. It doesn't stretch as long tails, but it's going to get you going and that's the most important thing at this point! Make an overhand tie 12in (30 cm) from the end of the yarn, and tighten it around the needle of knitting in your right hand. Make a twist in the working thread and insert the needle through the loop. Tighten the loop and repeat until you have 25 stitches! Try to keep the overall tension loose enough — one of the shortcomings of this cast on it gets a bit tight, making it harder to knit the next line. To make it a little faster, you can wrap the thread around your forefinger as shown, then lift a loop by scooping under the strand crossing your forefinger with the needle and pulling it up and off with your finger. Congratulations! You only have to do this once at the beginning of a project, and casting on is harder than actual weaving. Give yourself a pat on the back, snap a photo of your first line, and take a short break. What is your currency? Now that you have stitches on the needle, let's go to knitting the rest of the scarf! sheet!
